Colonel J. I. Coffey Office of the Special Assistant to the Provident for Security Operations Coordination The White House Washington 25, D. C.

Bear Colonel Coffee:

This refers to your memorandum requesting my vietra with respect to the scope and mothod of the Committee on Information Activities Abread, and also to my conversation with Mr. Sprague and Mr. Mieleen on February 4th. I am attaching a memorandum suggesting what appears to me to be an appropriate order of procedure for the Committee which nemerally follows the main lines of the Jackson Committee's Report in 1953. The Committee will undoubtedly wish to review the epocific recommendations of the Jackson Report with a view to determining what has been done to carry them out as well as to aspess the validity of its findings and conclusions in the light of present conditions. It also seems to me to be consistent wift the President's purpose for the Committee to formulate proposal for changes in the scope and enghasis of the present program to recommendations for new activities calculated to implement United States policy objectives.

The Jackson Committee addressed itself to a namber of erequirational problems which have subsequently been resolved. It is for this reason, I presume, that the matters dealt with in Chapter 7 of the June 30, 1953 report have been excluded from the present review. Moretver, as the Jackson Committee's concern with quasi-military operations such as constal subject and generalia wasters was primarily for the purpose of determining jurisdictional responsibility for the conduct of these activities, we have not suggested that the scope of the present Committee's investigation about include a review of these activities at this time. We will, however, he gind to inferraher. Sprague generally of the status of operations of this abture if he desires.

I have also not suggested economic activities as a subject to be included within the scape of the Committee's deliberations. Although U.S. programs in the field of foreign economic aid and assistance obviously include informational aspects and contribets ever-all to the image and prestige of the Paited States abread, the size and complexity of these programs would seem to extend the scape of the passent review to unmanageable limits. Here again, however, Mr. Sprages will probably wish to make some independent investigation of the problem before deciding what to do.

As sugards its method of approach, the Committee will obviously wish to consider the informational programs and related activities of agencies of the Government, as well as of modificial organizations, in the way best calculated to assume their interrelationship and the over-all impact and effectiveness of these programs as a whole.

We are reviewing the various programs for which this Agency is responsible with a view to identifying these which would be of interest to Mr. Sprague's Committee. I suggest that we discuss the results of this review with Mr. Sprague or Mr. Nielsen in the near future.

In its consideration of the present world citation and the objectives and capabilities of the Soviet bloc, as well as of other comparable matters, the Committee will probably wish to draw upon emisting intelligence estimates and may wish to receive current intelligence briefings. If so, I shall be very gird to see that the Committee receives the appropriate actimates and such briefings and other general assistance as may be of value.
